I am a Full Stack Developer with a background in Web Design and experience working with technologies such as Node.JS, React, Redux, SQL, SQL Server, C#, .NET, among others in the IT sector. As a Chemical Engineering student, I have developed additional skills that have allowed me to successfully enter the IT industry.
My engineering background and experience as an administrator have provided me with the ability to solve problems analytically, work autonomously and collaboratively in different work environments, lead processes, which has allowed me to maximize my ability to perform in different workspaces. I am flexible and capable of adapting quickly to changes, which allows me to stay updated in a sector that is constantly evolving.
